vention further pledged themselves to support the already established "Purple Cross" fund, a national Elks charity, with headquarters in Winnipeg, which enables any Elks to obtain immediate help for a child, irrespective of any affiliation with the fraternal order.

IWA, Forest Industry Continue Conciliation Board Argument

VANCOUVER (CP) — Representatives of 20,000 British Columbia woodworkers and 130 coastal lumber firms continued their argument Monday before a conciliation board on whether or not the industry can afford to pay a 20-per-cent wage increase.

Spokesmen for the International Woodworkers of America disputed management suggestions that the B.C. forest industry has the highest production costs in the world.

The union said Forest Industrial Relations, which represents the companies involved, has withheld information on unit costs which would show productivity per man-hour in B.C. Its submission said the agency should "stop mining words" on the figures.

Spokesmen for FIR said the real issue before the board is whether the industry is to be able to maintain its position in foreign markets.

They said increased productivity, mentioned by the union as a factor justifying wage increases, is not the sole factor involved in maintaining a competitive position. They mentioned increasing competition from Russia and Baltic countries and rising costs.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd rejected the Russian idea in a note handed to Foreign Minister Gromyko during a one-hour meeting here today, an authoritative source said.

A British spokesman said he expects the text of the note, which replied to one from Russia May 31, to be published in London Wednesday.

Cool Weather Halts Interior Flood Perils

VANCOUVER (CP) — The final snow pack survey issued by the B.C. water rights department says there still is a considerable amount of snow to melt but cooler weather has generally slowed the run-off.

The report said the Columbia river has reached a level of 33.93 feet at Trail. It must reach 40 feet before there is any danger.

One survey site in the Columbia reported 24.4 inches of snow June 1, compared with only 3.7 inches at the same time last year and none at all at the same period of 1957.

The survey said remaining snows could cause high flows in the Okanagan-Similkameen areas if rapid thaws develop. This hazard seemed unlikely if present weather continued.

What action will be taken after tonight is up to city council, according to committee chairman Arthur Dawe.

Others on the committee are Royce Bazell, Kenneth Harding and Trevor Pickering.

Peace Power For Coast By 1965?

VICTORIA (CP) — President W. C. Malinwaring of Peace River Power Development Company said Monday Peace River power could be delivered to the British Columbia lower mainland by 1965.

Mr. Malinwaring said the first step to produce 500,000 kilowatts will cost between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 and involve two dams which have already been designed, a power house and transmission lines to the lower mainland.

Final stages of the Peace River development would produce 4,000,000 horsepower and cost about $1,000,000,000, Mr. Malinwaring said in a television interview and Kelowna Named B.C. Jaycee H.Q.

Kelowna has been chosen as permanent headquarters for B.C.'s Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The subject was discussed at last week's provincial convention in Nelson, but was not confirmed until today, according to Robert Gordon, president-elect of Kelowna Jaycees and a member of the provincial executive board.

Kelowna's central location and its facilities were factors that prompted the decision to set up provincial headquarters here.

Edward Dickins, of Kelowna, past district president for the Okanagan, has been named as

Senior Citizens Ask Pay Hikes

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Senior Citizens' Association called Monday for an increase in the old age security pension to $75 a month and provision of more low-cost housing for elderly persons.

Another resolution passed at the association's annual meeting said that if the provincial government insists on annual medical examinations for elderly persons before granting driving licences, the cost of such examinations should be borne by the government.

MAYOR IMPROVED BUT NEEDS REST

Mayor Parkinson continues to show improvement following an abdominal operation a week ago, Acting Mayor Donald Horton advised city council at its weekly meeting last night.

The chief magistrate was operated on for a hemorrhaging stomach ulcer.

Mauled Man Sues Policeman, Vancouver City For Damages

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harry Rankin, legal counsel for 23-year-old Gordon Recknagel, said Recknagel will launch a civil suit today claiming general damages against the City of Vancouver and a city police constable.

The move follows constable John Flaten's conviction Monday on a charge of assault causing bodily harm to Recknagel, a one-armed man from suburban North Surrey.

Const. Flaten was given a one-year suspended sentence by Magistrate Douglas Hume and ordered to post a $300 bond.

Recknagel had his arm and nose broken when he was arrested outside an eatery.

Chief constable George Archer said today there will be no suspension of Const. Flaten, who reported for his regular shift at midnight Monday night.

Acting Mayor Evelyn Caldwell, who is also acting chairman of the police commission, said she will ask for an explanation of why he was not suspended.

Freedomites Still Plan Mass Russian Move, Says Elaso

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — A former leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors said Monday the sect still is planning a mass return to Russia, the Doukhobor ancestral homeland.

Peter Elaso, secretary of the 52-man Freedomite Fraternal Council which lost its authority two months ago when Freedomite women took control, said in a radio interview the Sons are waiting only for clarification of an offer of government assistance.

He said arrangements with the Soviet government are complete and members of the sect are determined to make the move "even if we have to walk."

The statement was in direct contradiction to earlier reports which said the sect had abandoned its migration plans.

A Freedomite delegation visited Russia early last year and reported on its return that a suitable area had been found for relocation of the group in Siberia.

Licence Lifted For Life; Rap Said Record

MONTREAL (CP) — Claude Renaud, 30, was sentenced Monday to what the judge called one of the longest prison terms ever imposed in Canada in a criminal negligence case.

Renaud, who pleaded guilty to two charges of criminal negligence, was sentenced to five years in prison and has his driving license cancelled for life. He had a previous conviction on a similar charge.

Jean Morel, 21, and Ginette Menard, 18, both of Montreal were fatally injured when hit by Renaud's car Easter Sunday.

Renaud had been sentenced to 10 months in prison in 1955 after killing a man in a highway accident near Joliette, Que.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Lazure said speed and alcohol were involved and told Renaud he had acted with "total irresponsibility."

"You're as dangerous as a holdup man and if you weren't married and the father of six children my sentence would have been greater," Mr. Justice Lazure said. "Even so it is probably one of the longest ever imposed in Canada."

Canada Urged To Help Fight World Hunger

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP) — Canadians are "like an over-indulged child fretting over some sand on his lollipop whilst around him press a swelling horde of starving children," the Canadian Manufacturers Association was told today.

A. C. MacDonald of Montreal, executive vice president, industrial, A. V. Roe Canada Ltd., made the statement while calling on Canadians to develop a "world perspective."

"As one of the great food producers, we could express our world perspective in leading an active search for a way to distribute food on a world basis," he said in a discussion at the CMA's annual meeting.

"More than half the people on earth are starving, or on the verge of starvation. More than half the 30,000,000 babies born this year will be undernourished."

Coast Man Voted To CMA Board

Ban These Books And What Will The Modern Kids Read?

Fashions change in children's books as well as everything else. To middle-aged Canadians and Americans, however, it comes as something of a shock to learn that many of the favorites of their childhood have been virtually banned in Florida. The list includes the works of Horatio Alger and G. A. Henty (who taught us history could be interesting!), the Tom Swift and Tarzan books, the Wizard of Oz, and a variety of "series" volumes such as the Bobbsey Twins, the Campfire Girls and the Boy Scout series.

All these books, the state librarian insists, are "poorly written, untrue to life, sensational, foolishly sentimental and consequently unwholesome for the children." She has recommended that Florida public libraries cease circulating them.

This is a pretty sweeping condemnation. No one would claim any of the books on the list as masterpieces of literature, but they did give pleasure to generations of young readers and it is hard to imagine that their appeal is entirely a thing of the past. The mentality that would class them as "unwholesome" is difficult to understand. Who was ever corrupted by the Bobbsey Twins or the Boy Scout series?

Some of the exclusions are rather intriguing; Horatio Alger, for instance. His stories invariably concerned newsmen, bootblacks and other underprivileged youngsters who rose in the world through hard work and honesty, not to mention good luck. Is this sort of thing so "untrue to life" in present-day America, so "sensational" and "foolishly sentimental" that children must be protected from it?

Then there are Henty's tales of derring-do in defence of the British Empire. They were once great favorites with British and Canadian boys, though their appeal would naturally be less in the United States. But it is rather startling to see them classed as a bad influence. Patriotism is not altogether a bad lesson in the mid-20th century.

Another library official has cited a further explanation in support of the ban: "Kids don't like the fanciful stuff any more. They want books about missiles and atomic submarines." This is a bit hard on Tom Swift who with his electric rifle was the pioneer in introducing wonder weapons among the younger generation.

One wonders what books these Florida experts want children to read in place of the ones they propose to banish. A steady diet of missiles and atomic submarines sounds rather inglorious and is apt to "date" a good deal faster than poor Horatio Alger.

THE DAILY COURIER extends a warm welcome to the visiting contingent of the B.C. Elks, signing the guest book at City Hall, using the same pen with which Her Royal Highness, Prince Margaret, signed the book last year. The 143 delegates, 31 Grand Lodge officers, and over 100 visitors descended on Kelowna Sunday, and will leave Wednesday morning.

OTTAWA REPORT

Ross Thatcher's Future?

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

One of the hoped-for visitors at the official ceremonies marking the opening of construction of the South Saskatchewan Dam was one-time dam-booster Ross Thatcher. That damworthy former MP for Moose Jaw was not among the many Conservative and Liberal and CCF politicians who attended, however. Many people were surprised by his absence, especially in view of his rumored new interest in a political career, since he recently freed himself of his time-consuming business responsibilities by selling his hardware store—for a reported $250,000. What now are the plans of that able politician, who has already sat in parliament as a CCFer, an Independent, and a Liberal? Surely he won't make a third bid to beat CCF leader—and his former parliamentary room-mate—Hazen Argue, at Assiniboia? Will he "retire" to Vancouver, and attempt to spearhead a Liberal revival in B.C.?

MOOSE JAW SCOOP

The Moose Jaw Times-Herald certainly won local recognition as Saskatchewan's leading newspaper at Outlook on Dam Day. Pretty Moose Jaw Majorettes distributed free copies of the Times-Herald to the 200 guests at the official luncheon, and among the 10,000 spectators at the dynamiting ceremony. This souvenir edition contained articles describing the whole history of Saskatchewan's struggle to get the dam, the extent and cost of the irrigation and power projects, and a forecast of what these may mean to the province.

Such a mammoth edition, devoted entirely to the dam, certainly stole the show from the Regina newspaper, which was nowhere to be seen, and from the Saskatoon paper, which only had a snippet in the front page to the effect that Prime Minister Diefenbaker would officiate at the opening ceremony. I heard many guests express their admiration for the foresight of the Times-Herald in issuing such an interesting edition; and I noticed that it was favorite reading among the cabinet ministers and MPs flying back to Ottawa after the ceremony.

I was given my copy by pretty Vickie Eries, whom I later saw chatting to two old timers: Mayor J. C. Carter of Outlook, who homesteaded nearby in 1904, and someone whose parents had brought him from Ontario to homestead further north a year earlier than Mayor Carter: John Diefenbaker.

PARLIAMENTARIANS ABSENT

With the Ontario election entering its final week, many MPs of all parties are now away from Ottawa, helping provincial candidates. Immediately after the opening prayer, when the attendance in the House of Commons is normally at its peak, on a recent day I counted only 124 out of 207 Conservatives present, 4 out of 207 CCFers, and 14 out of 48 Liberal MPs.

POLITICAL WRITING

Since it was disclosed some months ago that I had started work on a biography of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, several other typewriters have started clacking as writing books about Canadian Prime Ministers has developed almost into a mass movement. Former Cabinet Minister Jack Pickersgill has begun thinking about a biography of his former boss, Prime Minister St. Laurent. Former Prime Minister's secretary Dale Thompson has likewise begun gathering material for a life of Mr. St. Laurent, which however the subject has not yet been authorized. And Marjorie Lord Beaverbrook has launched a biography of the man who once shared an office with him at Chatham, New Brunswick, and later became Canada's 11th Prime Minister, R. B. Bennett—this latter has evidently been a case of a sponsor in search of an author.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

IT'S THE SAME DIFFERENCE

This rather absurd colloquialism which means nothing nevertheless fits the situation as I see it today in assessing what is taking place in the East and in the West. To put it baldly, the country is growing out of its breeches. Wherever you go you find man patching his clothes.

More accurately, he is busy letting out the seams, hoping against hope that he has enough material to enable him still to be decently contained within the garment. Whether it is the Welland Canal which is trying to accommodate the rush of ships and still enable the cars to cross the country without being held up unduly by raised bridges, or whether it is the highway network which is trying to deal with the ever-increasing number of motor vehicles, the problem is the same.

It is the same difference when it comes to providing transport for city workers by putting them underground in subways as it is when man has to deal with the housing situation.

There is no room in Kelowna for the people who want to live there and there is no room for the people in Toronto who want to live in that metropolis. There is no room for the cars which the people drive and no room for the children who are born to this ever increasing population.

Man is using his ingenuity to provide schools, universities, parking facilities, wider roads, more churches; he is stretching every nerve to deal with the monster which he has brought into being. Villages and towns are being gobbled up by the cities. Fields disappear to make way for factories. Houses are placed so close together that there is no room for people to breathe. They have no place to park their cars and the city won't have them on the streets. There is no chance to have a house on the level and so the people have to live vertically and his means money and more apartments.

And a good people, it would appear to me that we are hoist with our own petard, whatever that means. Anyway, as the teenagers say, it's the same difference and it all adds up to this: that we are faced with something that is getting too big to handle. Personally speaking, I think that, if we are going to have any success, man has to face up to the truth. He must either learn to be big enough to handle his problems or his problems are going to rob him of his life. I am not a philosopher, but I am not a fool either on boundaries or on what happens when a city suddenly grows beyond the point which everyone, a few years ago, imagined possible but I have seen what is happening in Toronto and some of the tasks undertaken in order to deal with problems of enormous proportions. I know what opposition there was to what men of vision wanted to do, and I hope that people in our district will learn from the experience of others.

"It's the same difference" in Toronto and Kelowna. It is only a matter of size. If Kelowna is not allowed to grow legally, it will grow illegally and badly, and much that will be done will have to be undone in the future. We need people of vision, people who can take the long view. This country is just beginning and you can no more stop growth than an English king could stop the tide coming in. It's the same difference, but he was wiser than his courtiers who had been praising him and telling him how powerful he was. He is a wise man today who knows he cannot stop growth. He is a wise man who decides to do something about making adequate clothes to cover the giant of tomorrow. Visit Toronto and you'll know why I write this about Kelowna. It's the same difference!

The Right Not To Print

The man who was annoyed because he was given a ticket for over-parking and went into the office of the local newspaper and inserted a $16 advertisement saying, "Prince George. You are strictly bush league," had the right idea of the use of the press. He might have addressed a letter to the editor on the subject, but he asked no favors—he paid for what he wished to say.

There seems to be much misunderstanding about letters to the editor. In the ordinary course of affairs the recipient of any letter is entitled to do what he likes with it. Subject to the laws of libel and contempt of court, the editor publishes those letters which will interest the reading public and the more interesting they are more gladly he will publish them. The editor spends all his life trying to find stories which will interest his reader, but there is no compulsion on him to bore his readers to death.

A newspaper is a private undertaking and though it circulates among the public it is not a public affair, so that irate readers cannot "demand" that the paper publish their letters.

They can, like the motorist at Prince George, take advertising space and publish what they wish to say, though the newspaper still has the right to refuse anything which is unfair, libelous or offends good taste.

From this it is quite clear that the freedom of the press includes the right not to print. This is logical, for a newspaper would not be free if it had to publish all that was sent to it. Freedom of the press also includes freedom of choice, for it would be impossible to print all the news in the ordinary newspaper. This necessity for choice sometimes means that news is left out of the newspaper and this leads to the belief by many people that newspapers exercise some kind of censorship over news.

Though a great many people will not believe it, nothing could be further from the truth. There are only two things which count with editors—will an item interest his readers, and will there be room for it—and this often means that he acquires a headache.

When a reader's letter is apposite, interesting and without malice, then editors will gladly publish it. It is up to the writer to make it that way.—Nelson Daily News.

THE VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JAMES K. NESBITT
VICTORIA — There must be universal regret throughout British Columbia because Lt.-Gov. Frank McCreight has said, almost positively, that he will not accept another term at Government House as the Queen's representative. He even says that if he had known how strenuous the job would be he would not have taken it nearly four years ago, not that he's not enjoying it.

His honor will be nearly 70 when his term ends in October of 1962, and that, apparently, is the chief reason why he will not consider a second term. He says there should be a younger and more active man in the position.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross, perhaps have made the job more strenuous than any of their predecessors, because that's the kind of people they are—constantly on the go. They never spare themselves. They thoroughly enjoy Government House, because they like people, and in their position they are forever surrounded by people.

James H. Honor can be persuaded to change his mind when he is asked, and if he should take a second term people would be glad to have him slowed down a bit.

Seven of our history has a long record of service to the province in office, though there's nothing in the constitution against it. It has been done in other provinces. But after five years of public life, it is hard to call it a life.

Two of our lieutenant-governors, Sir John A. Macdonald, our first prime minister, who picked Trutch for the position. He charged Trutch with the difficult task of setting up B.C.'s first provincial government, as opposed to the colonial government which had been in force before 1871.

Trutch appointed the first premier, John Foster McCreight, who chose his cabinet ministers, then went to the people in the first provincial general election in B.C. All that Trutch and McCreight did was endorsed by the voters.

All our lieutenant-governors, certainly in recent years, have been wealthy men. They have to be, for it costs a fortune to live in Government House. The government by no means pays all the bills. The lieutenant-governor must pay for most of the servants, all of the vast mounds of food the public gobbles up. The governor's federal salary is less than $10,000 a year, though there are federal grants-in-aid, to help with some of the expenses.

There have been 19 lieutenant-governors since 1871, in this order: Joseph W. Trutch (knights after he left office); Albert Norton Richards, Clement Francis Cornwall, Hugh Nelson, Edgar Dewdney, Thomas Robert McInnes, Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, James Dunsmuir, Sir Frank Bannard, Edward Gawler Prior, Walter Cameron Nichol, Robert Randolph Bruce, J. W. Fordham, Johnson, Eric Werge Hamber, W. C. Woodward, Charles A. Banks, Clarence Wallace, Frank Mackenzie Ross.

of his fishing lodge on the Cowichan River. Charles Banks left the office in 1946, after four years, because he had pressing personal business that took him out of the province every month. Besides, he and his wife didn't like all the entertaining they had to do.

Our first lieutenant-governor, when B.C. joined Canada in 1871, was Joseph W. Trutch, one of the great pioneers of this land. It was Sir John A. Macdonald, our first prime minister, who picked Trutch for the position.

One is a little cafe. Its bright juke box blares the latest rock 'n' roll from North America. A few hundred yards east, on the other side of a white-and-red striped barrier, stands a little wooden shack. From it issues a different kind of music: Soldier choruses from the Soviet Union and high-pitched music from the People's Republic of China.

The shack is the control post for the Soviet Army on the main highway over which rolls traffic to and from isolated West Berlin, 110 miles east of Helmstedt.

The commander of the U.S. unit, Capt. Louis Jennings, 32, of Bangor, Me., says of the assignment: "It's interesting work — there's always something new. Sure, this place is isolated, but we are well received by the local people. The marriage rate between our soldiers and the local girls is quite high. We've had about seven marriages during the last year."

But a disgruntled private, who refuses use of his name, has a different viewpoint. "Pulling duty here is like being buried alive. I'd rather be off guarding a flag pole somewhere."

The main duty of the American unit is to check all American military personnel travelling to allied — occupied West Berlin and make certain their papers are in order. The French and British units do the same for their travellers.

"On a normal day during the summer," says Capt. Jennings, "we check about 40 American vehicles out (of East Germany) and about 30 in."

"The British have about the same amount of traffic. The French have very little."

Does he frequently have dealings with his Russian counterparts? "We have no social contacts," says Jennings, "but during business contacts which could involve everything from difficulties with a U.S. Army truck convoy or the release of an American soldier who had been held in East Germany—he and the Russians sometimes have amiable chats."

"We talk about all sorts of things," Jennings recalls. "I've asked what they thought of Germany, but I got no reply. I think they have orders not to fraternize with the Germans."

"I asked one officer whether he preferred duty in Germany or Russia. He answered: 'I'd rather serve in Russia.'"

Allied military personnel are not to stop anywhere on the 110-mile journey. Nor are they supposed to make any side trips. Otherwise, they risk arrest by the Communist people's police.

Drivers Get Another Week To Learn Left Turn Regulations At PO Corner

Motorists will have one more week to realize that certain restrictions have been placed on making left turns at the post office corner.

After that, drivers who make left turns between 12 noon and 1 p.m. and between 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. will be prosecuted, city council decided last night.

RIISING INCH DAILY

Some Doubt If Maximum Lake Level Can Be Held This Year

Some doubt has been expressed in official city circles that the level of Okanagan Lake can be contained within the agreed maximum limit.

Ald. Jack Treadgold told city council last night that the lake has been rising at about one inch daily and that, up to Monday afternoon, the level was less than a foot from reaching the agreed maximum of 102.50 feet.

"There's no doubt about it that we'll reach the maximum," he said. At the current rate of rise that should come next week.

He said he had been told every effort will be made by control authorities to hold the level at 102.5, or even at 102.4, but with a heavy runoff still to come down from the higher altitudes and with areas south of Kelowna (especially south of Okanagan Okanagan Falls) having a "rough time," it is possible the lake may go over the maximum.

The weather still is a determining factor, though admittedly, it has been favorable so far. A prolonged hot spell and heavy warm rain would precipitate a voluminous runoff in major creeks that have headquarters above the 5,000-foot level.

Ald. Treadgold told council the work the city did cleaning out the bed of Mill (Kelowna) Creek and clearing corners had "paid off" in alleviating a "very bad flood potential year."

Mill was down about three feet below the peak it reached about three weeks ago, but, according to Ald. Treadgold, it may go up today or tomorrow, due to spilling at Postill Lake.

He did not think the rise would be significant. Both Postill and South Lake irrigation dams are full and spilling water, which doesn't happen often.

Mission Creek is running full, with much more water yet to come down.

PICNIC IN PARK

City council this week granted the Winfield old age pensioners group permission to hold a picnic at the City Park picnic grounds June 23, from 2 to 6 p.m.

Exclusive Franchise In Park Questioned

SENIOR CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF TAX RATE, LOSS OF DISCOUNT

Official objection to the increased mill rate and the cancellation of the electrical bill discount has been lodged with city council by the senior citizens association.

In a letter read at last night's city council meeting, the association maintains that in some cases the extra burden to be met will be about 20 per cent, due to assessments being up.

"Certainly something will have to be done to afford some measure of relief in some of the more pressing cases," spokesman E. E. Wolfe contended.

In replying to the letter, city fathers will explain that, while they are sympathetic, rising city costs gave them no alternative.

George Pringle Students Presented With Awards

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to space limitations, the report of the Daily Courier's Westbank correspondent, Mrs. Dorothy Gellaly, on Friday's graduation ceremonies for George Pringle high school had to be drastically cut. Following is that portion of Mrs. Gellaly's report dealing with award winners.

Awards presented during the evening included those of citizenship presented to students who have shown qualities of good citizenship. Pat Shetler, president of the student council, participant in all school activities, and whose qualities of integrity and conscientiousness have been outstanding, was presented with this award by Mrs. Art Beet.

George Fry, in bestowing a similar award on Allan Hill, said that Allan possessed those qualities shown by Pat, was well-mannered and co-operative.

Winning the academic award in grade seven was Joan Lee, with James Woodsworth as runner-up. Violet Griffin took top marks in grade eight, with Elissa Ratzlaff coming a close second.

Gwen Warren and Murray Hill, with equal standing, took top awards in grade nine, followed by Lynn Bartle. In grade 11 Gordon Stewart won the crest, and also the special book award for French offered by the French consulate.

Kaye Saunders Given Legion Scholarship

By Courier Correspondent

VERNON — When Harold K. Bearst, president of the Vernon Canadian Legion, presented the Canadian Legion $300 scholarship to Vernon senior high school's 1959 graduating class valedictorian, Kaye Saunders, 17, he recalled that, as principal of Vernon elementary school, Miss Saunders' mother had been one of his students.

Mayor Frank Becker urged the graduating class of 148, plus 35 Grade 13 students, to continue with their education. He said they would make no mistake in returning to Vernon when they had completed university and taken positions in the professional world.

Principal Larry Marrs was master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Talks Proposed
For Regulations
West Of Bridge
Kelowna and Westbank representatives are expected to interview Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black at Salmon Arm Thursday to press for a regulated area on the west side of the Okanagan lake bridge.

Fred Waterman of Westbank is understood by city council to have made arrangements already to see Mr. Black or Premier Bennett. Council last night decided that one or two Aldermen should support Mr. Waterman.

Interview time likely will be arranged today when it is known who will represent Kelowna. Aldermen Jack Treadgold and Ernest Winter are the most likely delegates.

The provincial cabinet is holding a special meeting at Salmon Arm Thursday.

GOOD RENTAL

Douglas Herbert, city comptroller, told the Aquatic committee a good rental from the concessionaire, which helps the association to "balance its budget."

The return required by the Aquatic would be too exorbitant for any small group to take on. Mr. Herbert contended, observing that the present concessionaire was operating on a large, well-equipped scale.

Ald. Jack Treadgold felt that one of the attractions of Kelowna as a tourist centre and convention city was its catering facilities in the park. "We wouldn't begin to have these facilities if we didn't have the arrangement we have now," said he.

The subject was prompted by a delegation from the Rebekah Lodge seeking permission to set up a refreshment centre at the Senior Citizens Club Rooms during Regatta week.

CANT USE PARK
Chief spokesman Mrs. Fred Titt said there was a "desperate need for a light refreshment booth" to help the hundreds of visitors get something to eat.

The proposed site would be close to the park entrance and would be the best choice since the Rebekahs couldn't set up a booth inside the park, she said.

The senior citizens association has agreed to the proposal, which will mean a certain percentage to be paid for use of the site.

City fathers decided to ponder over the request, striving first to arrive at terms of a lease for the building now being used by the senior citizens for a club room.

The request from the Rebekah lodge also will be put before the regatta committee for its comments and recommendations.

City Waives Fee For Outdoors Art Exhibit

Believing it would not set a precedent, city council last night decided to waive the trade licence fee for the proposed open air art exhibit at the lake end of Bernard Ave. July 13.

Acting Mayor Donald Horton said the situation did not appear to be covered by the licensing bylaw. "It is an attempt to further artistic things and we should encourage it," he said as he recommended the licence fee be waived.

Some exhibitors will have their handiwork up for sale.

KNOX CONGRATULATED
Dr. W. J. Knox, Kelowna's oldest physician, was congratulated by city council last week on the occasion of his 81st birthday.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were: first vice-president, Mrs. J. Hume; recording secretary, Mrs. E. Snelgrove.

Chairmen of standing committees are: program, Mrs. D. McLeod; publicity, Mrs. S. Dunka; membership, Mrs. S. Stelhamer; historian, Mrs. T. Brydon; health and transportation, Mrs. D. Smuland; hospitality, Mrs. William Greenaway.

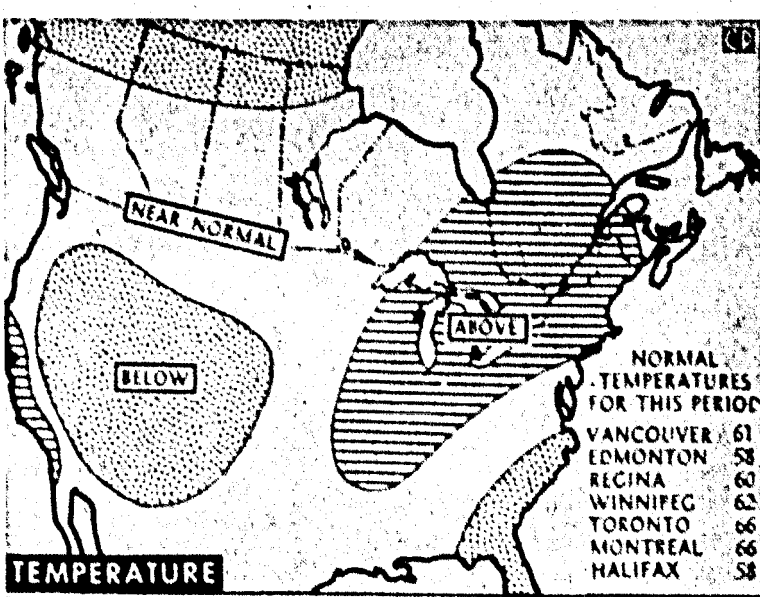

Mrs. E. R. Polty, member of the board of trustees, School District 23 (Kelowna), and a past president of the Kelowna P.T.A., officiated at the installation ceremony. The new executive held its first meeting last night.

At the election meeting, F. T. Ponce, school principal, H. Odum and Mrs. Gladys Martel, school counsellors, described the essential differences between elementary school and junior high school programs and the difficult adjustments faced by students making the change-over.

The course which previously was held in Alberta, was given by Miss Grace Nichols, Eagle Owl trainer from Vernon. Part I theory was a written test, passed before the practical part of the course was held. It corresponds with the Girl Scout movement.

Those successfully passing the week-long training were Mrs. M. E. Utley of Kelowna; Mrs. E. J. Crampin, Oliver; Mrs. E. W. Parrott, Vancouver; Mrs. E. M. Gordon, Victoria; Mrs. J. Stevenson, Courtenay; Mrs. M. Vindevoghel, Montrose; Mrs. J. S. Ralph and Mrs. D. Lyland, Fruitvale; Mrs. E. Bailey, Trail; Miss B. Pearce, North Vancouver; Mrs. W. A. Smart, Prince George; and Mrs. H. Whyte, New Westminster.

In the past year Mrs. Utley has passed her Pack Holiday test paper, the Maple Leaf training course, and the St. John Ambulance first aid. She is the Brown Owl for the 5th Kelowna Brownie Pack, sponsored by the CWL.

A meeting will be called shortly to answer such questions as "What is a Pack Holiday?" and "How can I go about taking my Brownies on one?"

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

Fifth Kelowna Brownie Pack held the final get-together of the year recently when they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Keohm at their newly opened "Holiday Ranch."

Brownies enjoyed free pony rides and a good time was had by all. Brownies who successfully passed the "Golden Hand" test held June 6 were Shannon Denegre, Geraldine Pfleger and Diane Welder. They will receive their wings at the "Fly Up" ceremony in the fall.

HOTHOUSE COOLER

By ALICE ALDEN Little care and lots of fashion is what the shopper seeks in summer styles, no matter what the price tag. These demands are pleasantly met in a pretty color for hothouse days. Betty Barclay designed this one of drip-dry cotton in white or in pastels with dyed-to-match lace insets. She gives the dress a full skirt that billows out from a tiny bow-band belt. The sleeveless bodice is slim and fitted, as it should be in a dress that runs from sizes 5 to 15.

PEACHLAND

PEACHLAND — Many interested persons went to Westbank from Peachland for the graduation exercises at George Pringle High School.

Three of the graduating class were local students: Kay Mason, who is to enter business college; Billy Blower, planning to take grade 13 and go on to UBC, and Terry Bradley, who plans on joining the RCMP.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martiniuk with daughter Maureen, from Revelstoke, spent the weekend at the home of the later's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Long.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Knowles, former residents of the district, are visiting friends from far off Kleena-Kleena.

Tourist Pies Special Feature Of July Bake Sale At Peachland

PEACHLAND — Progress reports were given from all committees, at the last meeting before the summer recess of St. Margaret's W.A. held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Spackman. Fourteen members and one visitor were present, with president Mrs. George Long in the chair. A letter of appreciation was read from the Diocesan Donations secretary-Treasurer regarding the sum of money donated from the Sunday School class.

A delightful tea was served by the hostesses at the conclusion of the meeting.

WOMEN'S AGE

APPRECIATE SCHOOL — A demand from children to stay at school past the leaving age of 15 is sweeping the country, says Education Minister Geoffrey Lloyd. "Today there are schools where 80 per cent of the pupils voluntarily stay on longer to improve their education," he said.

DAYTIME SELECTION — By VERA WINSTON Black or navy blue textured silk is smartly handled for a very wearable daytime dress. The criss-cross bands on the bodice have three white pearl buttons recurring them and helping to maintain the fitted silhouette. Especially good with a little fur piece now, it will wear well independently later on.

Servicemen Abroad Hard Hit By Loss Of Family Bonus

OTTAWA (CP) — Figures have been given in the Commons showing that among Canadian servicemen serving abroad the lowest ranks with the largest number of children are hardest hit by loss of family allowances.

Servicemen abroad in some cases receive allowances which to some extent offset the loss of family allowances. But the lowest ranks lose the most.

Defence Minister Pearkes says in a Commons return for Chesley W. Carter (Burlington) that the gross loss in family allowances during a four-year tour of duty abroad is $912 for a serviceman with three children and $1,584 for a serviceman with five children, regardless of rank.

Manitoba Has New HIS Plan

WINNIPEG (CP) — A new plan for premium collections under the Manitoba hospital insurance plan was announced today in the speech from the throne read at the opening of the legislature.

The speech read by Lieutenant-Governor J. S. McDiarmid said the new method of collection would be designed to relieve municipalities of much of their responsibility in this regard. At present, collections of premiums from certain individuals is the responsibility of municipalities.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A $34,000 electron microscope for use in examining diseased tissues has been presented to the pathology department of the University of B.C. by the Canadian Cancer Society. The machine, first of its type in B.C., is able to magnify specimens of tissue up to 100,000 times. It consists of two units weighing almost a ton.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hon. Clarence Wallace, former lieutenant-governor of B.C., has sold his midtown Vancouver residence for an estimated $121,000 and has moved into an apartment overlooking Stanley Park. Sale of the spacious home, called Devonian, to business man S. (Sonny) Wosk was one of the largest residential real estate transactions in the city's history.

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — John E. Everall, 72, was flown to Vancouver Monday night after suffering severe arm injuries when he fell on a power saw. Mr. Everall made the flight in a chartered B.C. Airlines plane.

VICTORIA (CP) — RCMP headquarters here said Monday night the search for Jeff Goglan, 62, in Alert Bay area waters has been called off. The search was started during the weekend after police received a report that Goglan had been missing since he left May 25 on a trip from Allison Harbor to Smith Inlet in a 14-foot boat.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Retired RCMP Sgt. William D. Johnson, 43, died Monday while taking part in the B.C. Rifle Association shoot here. He was stricken by a heart attack while attempting to qualify for the Canadian Bisley team at Blair Range. He retired in January after 25 years with the RCMP in Ottawa, Vancouver and Victoria.

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The second annual Northwest Brigade canoe race will be staged here July 1 as part of the city's Simon Fraser Day celebrations. The race will be on a 139-mile course from Fort St. John to Prince George with prizes of $1,000, $500 and $200 for first, second and third boats respectively. The race was staged for the first time last year during the city's B.C. Centennial celebrations.

U.S. Proposes Tri-Power Atom Group

GENEVA (AP) — The United States has proposed that the nuclear test suspension conference set up a three-power technical group to study problems of controlling high-altitude tests.

The proposal was advanced at a 24-hour meeting of the conference, which resumed its deliberations after a month's recess. The plan called for the scientists to begin their investigation June 22 and report back to the conference a week later.

A Soviet argument over the language of the proposal prevented immediate agreement on the idea, a Western source said, but he assumed such a study will take place.

Earlier Russia's Andrei Gromyko called on Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to discuss moves toward banning tests.

for seven years, and have finally taken the steps necessary to make it a reality.

The most active foils in the Powell River cause were wielded by incoming president, Arthur Dods-worth, who will be installed in office today, and he was ably supported by Exalted Ruler N. Price Amos, Wally Norman and Bill Alton.

"The perfect hosts of the Sunshine coast," screams the Powell River Paper Co. delegates, and the active boosters of the paper town indicate they have the Board of Trade and the Powell River Paper Co. solidly behind them in their bid.

"We want to give the junior lodges along the coast a chance to attend," said Mr. Norman yesterday.

But this is also the basis of Prince George's bid, as expressed by Ralph "Gundy" Gunderson, past Exalted Ruler of the Cariboo country lodge.

"We haven't hosted the convention for 20 years or more," said Mr. Gunderson yesterday, "and we want to give a lot of the smaller lodges a chance to attend, since we are situated right in the centre of B.C."

A Shrine convention is slated for Prince George for 1960, and the provincial command of the Canadian Legion recently held their convention there.

"Northern hospitality superb," is the slogan for the Prince George lodge.

In the meantime, however, the delegates were unanimous in praising Kelowna's hospitality, which one delegate said, "leaves me a bit breathless. I had no idea of the beauty in scenery and in the city itself. I wouldn't have missed it for worlds."

Yesterday was a busy one, with a registration and get-together at the Aquatic preceding a parade through city streets, the afternoon business sessions and an evening tag, with professional and home brew entertainment, followed by an "invasion of the ladies."

Today, business sessions are in order all day, with a banquet and dance tonight, and the Elks will start for home tomorrow.

Elections, installation and the naming of the '60 site will be on the agenda today.

U.S.-Russia Plan Exchange Of Very Important Persons

WASHINGTON (AP) — From Moscow, a Soviet first deputy premier, has asked to meet with President Eisenhower and other leaders during a 10-day visit to the United States.

Seaway May Reduce West Grain Value

SASKATOON (CP) — Scientists say the value of some Prairie grain may be reduced by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Dr. G. N. Irvine of Winnipeg, a member of the board of grain commissioners, told the Canadian Political Science Association during the weekend that the seaway may end the process of "automatic blending" of grain at the Lakehead.

Dr. G. E. Britnell, head of political science at the University of Saskatchewan, said Monday this may mean buyers will be reluctant to pay as much for grain at the Lakehead.

The Political Science Association met as part of the Conference of Learned Societies. Automatic blending was defined as the process by which grain is made uniform in quality by being loaded and unloaded several times on the way to its ultimate destination.

Dr. Irvine said wheat from Manitoba and Alberta are about of equal quality, but neither are as good as Saskatchewan's.

Eisenhower is expected to grant his wish along with a request to undertake a coast-to-coast tour of some half a dozen cities in early July.

The 51-year-old Koslov, a fast-rising newcomer in the Kremlin hierarchy, is due to arrive in New York June 25 to open the Soviet National Exhibition in New York.

The Soviet government appears to be making his visit a formal one, a tit-for-tat exchange for one Vice-President Richard Nixon is to make to Russia July 25.

Nixon will open the American National Exhibition in Moscow. But while in Russia, Nixon has asked to be allowed to tour Soviet cities, including some in Siberia, an area rarely opened to foreigners.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

This day's vibrations favor the accomplishment of difficult tasks; also presage gains through the co-operation of others. Do not go to extremes, however, and don't shirk details in your anxiety to concentrate on "big deals."

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you are currently in an excellent position to make headway with vital personal matters and with long-range job and financial plans. Do be careful, however, during October and the latter part of November, not to spend money foolishly or you could upset gains already made.

Domestic and social interests should prove harmonious for most of the year ahead and, for the single, romance and/or marriage is a strong likelihood either late this month, in October or late December. October also points to fine achievement in job matters, and December's aspects not only show an increase in personal and business prestige, but also give the "green light" for going ahead on major projects involving future expansion of your interests.

A child born on this day will be sympathetic, loyal and intuitive, but may have to curb tendencies toward extreme restlessness.

Adenauer Now Regarded As New German Iron Leader

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN (AP) — The Germans have found themselves with a modern iron chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, who ended with high intrigue among the ruling monarchs of Europe.

The times have changed, the tables are different, but the strength of character and will of the men seem similar.

Politically, there was everything wrong with Adenauer's appointment from his announced intention to give up as chancellor and take over the ceremonial post of president.

NO FINESSE

His move lacked any trace of finesse. It was taken against nearly unanimous disapproval not only of the opposition parties but also of his own Christian Democrats.

Yet Adenauer appears to have won.

Three days ago Socialist Fritz

Erlar said in debate in parliament that Adenauer is trying to perpetuate one-man rule. Little more than 24 hours later Adenauer helped to give support to Erlar's thesis.

Adenauer has been the only chancellor West Germany has known since it was organized 10 years ago.

There seems little doubt he does not trust anyone else to run the show. He appeared willing to step up to the presidency as long as he thought he could hand-pick his successor as chancellor and dictate to him from the presidential palace.

PARTY REBELLION

But for once in his political career he found his party followers in rebellion.

They refused to accept his choice, Finance Minister Franz Etzel, and rallied behind the popular economics minister, Ludwig Erhard.

Adenauer is a man of fixed opinions. But he also is a man of impulse. Popular portraits of him as a cold, calculating figure are not borne out by facts.

He agreed in April to run for president. The decision was made with shocking suddenness. It was

HEALTH COLUMN

New Drug Helps Battle Asthma And Bronchitis

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Hydrocortisone has been brought into the battle against asthma. The drug isn't injected and it isn't swallowed—it's inhaled.

Inhalations of fine-particle hydrocortisone acetate powder have been tested on some three patients with asthma or wheezy bronchitis. The results indicate that such inhalations are effective for some patients but have certain drawbacks.

USED INTERMITTENTLY

The inhalations apparently are most beneficial if they can be used intermittently for recurrent attacks of asthma. There is a strong tendency for a relapse in chronic cases, when treatment must be maintained continuously.

It is probably preferable to use oral or intravenous corticosteroid drugs for patients with status asthmaticus, at least when they are seriously ill, since the extreme wheezing usually makes inhaling the drug difficult.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Persons with established chronic bronchitis will probably get little benefit from the inhalations.

Although a considerable portion of the inhaled hydrocortisone would probably be absorbed, doctors say there would be little chance of any toxic effect.

The best dosage has not been established and it probably varies from patient to patient.

In the test, the powder used came in capsules containing 15

mg. of hydrocortisone acetate and 75 mg. of lactose powder. Both were ground to a fine particle.

DOSAGE VARIES

Initial doses vary from one to three capsules per day to half a capsule twice daily. The dosage, of course, depends upon the severity of the wheezing at the beginning of the treatment.

Naturally, as soon as improvement is noticed, the doses are cut to the minimum required to maintain the improved state.

Most patients are able to reduce the dose to half a capsule twice a day within the first week.

Some require two capsules per day while others need only half a capsule a day.

Once the attack has been relieved for an entire week, the inhalations can be stopped.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. D. D. R.: Some time ago my doctor diagnosed my eye trouble as "iritis" and, after treatment, the irritation cleared. But I still see clouds floating before my eyes.

One doctor thinks it may be that this condition is caused by my sinuses.

Would you suggest that I seek further treatment or just live with it?

Answer: Iritis may result in "floaters" in the fluids of the eyeball, producing the sensation of clouds.

Your eye doctor is in the best position to advise you as to the necessity for further treatment for this condition.

Opening lead—seven of spades. And out of the game, may get a bang out of this deal played in a par contest recently.

The hand has a neat double twist. On the surface it appears that declarer can make nine tricks against the spade lead—three diamonds which he can develop, and two tricks in each of the other suits. But closer examination reveals that South can be defeated by proper defense.

When the spade is led and dummy's ducks, East is supposed to be clever enough not to win with the king. This play forces declarer to win with the queen or pack.

As soon as South leads a diamond, West steps up with the king, leads another spade, and it is curtains for the declarer. East's spades become established and since he still has the ace of diamonds as an entry, the declarer is stunk.

But if East wins the opening spade lead with the king and returns a spade, West will not have another spade to lead when he takes his king of diamonds, and South will wind up with the previously mentioned nine tricks.

However, such is the nature of the deal that even if East errs by winning the first spade lead with the king, the defense can still recover its equilibrium and defeat the contract by a most extraordinary play.

Assume East takes the king and returns a spade. Declarer wins with the queen and leads a diamond towards dummy. West ducks. East takes the jack with the ace and plays the third round of spades.

West discards the king of diamonds! From this stroke declarer cannot recover, with cannot produce nine tricks without bringing home the diamond suit. East still has 10-3 of diamonds left to cope with dummy's Q-8-5-2. There is no harm in Gilead. South must go down.

A remarkable hand. First East gets a chance to shine by refusing to take his king, and then, if East slips, West gets a chance to recover the fumble by discarding a king.

Bucs Ace Face Is Top Relief

By Associated Press
When you start talking about relief aces in the National League, let's face it, Elroy Face is your man.
The stubby righthander has been Pittsburgh's right-hand man in the Pirates' climb from obscurity. He hasn't been better in more than a year, figuring in 34 victories since he last was a loser, on May 30 of last year.
In that time, Face has won 13 and saved 21 with a 1.51 earned run average, allowing just 17 runs in 100 2-3 innings.
The 31-year-old former Dodger farm hand grabbed his eighth victory of the season Monday night by collaring the slugging San Francisco Giants in a 12-9 Pirate success decided by Harry Bright's three-run, two-out pinch homer in the 11th inning.
That ended the Bucs' skid at four games and pushed them into a three-way tie for third place with Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles.
(American League)
Okay, so the Detroit Tigers have been hot since Jimmy Dykes took over as manager. But how hot is hot?

Call it scorching. Better yet, call it tops, for if you compute American League standings on performance since May 3, the day Dykes took charge, the Tigers would be leading the league by a whopping six games.
When Dykes relieved Bill Norman the Tigers were last, 10½ games behind then-leading Cleveland. They had a 2-15 record.
Now they're only 2½ games shy of first place, have a 24-10 record (.706) under Dykes, have taken command of fourth place, are over .500 for the first time this season and have won 12 of their last 15 games after winning their fourth in a row Monday night at Boston, 6-3.
It was the only game scheduled in the AL and broke a fourth-place deadlock with Kansas City while moving the Tigers within a game of Cleveland's now-third-place Indians.

Kamloops Has Tight Hold On Valley Soccer's Lead

It's a sho-in for the Kamloops United soccer club to win the spring half of the soccer season. With eight wins, one tie and only two losses in their 11 games this spring, Kamloops leads Vernon Hi-Lifes by five points, while Kelowna Hotspurs are just one behind that.
The full league schedule, which consists of 24 games for each team, will be finished off in the fall, and the cup play-offs will begin in two weeks time. The "Spurs" have one game left in league play, next Sunday at North Kamloops, and the following week North Kamloops will be here to start the cup-ties.
Last Sunday's results were: Revelstoke International 4, Kamloops United 5; Vernon 2, Juveniles 1.

Rear Files Closing In On Pacific Coast League Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The leaders maintained interval but other marchers began closing ranks in the Pacific Coast League baseball parade Monday night.
Sixth-place Spokane trotted out versatile pitcher-hitter Chuck Churn to gain a stride on first-place Sacramento, 7-3. The Solons stayed 2½ steps in front of San Diego as Vancouver used unearned runs to beat the Padres 4-2.
Rear-rank Seattle struck up a steady 16-bat attack with the bat and overtook Phoenix 16-0. Seventh-place Salt Lake City tightened formation in the last inning to edge Portland 7-6.

Churn was almost the whole show for the revitalized Indians. He allowed only five hits and brought in two runs with a single. He took his third win without a loss while walking three and striking out two.
The Mounties registered their third straight victory with two unearned runs in the eighth. Joe Taylor was safe on an error. Jim Dykes singled him to third, and he scored on R. C. Smith's wild pitch. Joe Durham brought in the insurance tally with a single.

Rutland Wins In Softball, Slips A Notch In SOK'M

The Rutland high school softball club made a successful junket to Oliver Saturday to win a valley crown, but many of the same players found it tough going with the smaller baseball on Sunday and they slipped in SOK'M play to fourth place.

NO-HITTER SPOILED

Jim Foreman, chucking for Salmon Arm at Rutland on Sunday afternoon, came within two outs of a no hit, no run game, but had to be satisfied with a one hitter when Adrian Rieger came up with a line skimming grounder over third base for Rutland's only hit.
Rieger was put out stealing second, and the next batter struck out to retire the side and end the game.
Foreman got 11 strikeouts in fashioning his one hitter, and his team-mates played errorless ball behind him. Only three other Rutland players got on base in the game, all by walks, but only one got beyond second base.

MONTREAL (CP) — The first said he is willing to go in for the NHL's annual grab fest on today with expectations that pickings will be plentiful.
The prize is $20,000 per player from the Western Hockey League, trading block, but he won't submit that figure nobody has worked up much of a sweat.
More important, among hockey men gathered here from Canada and the United States, was the fact that the AHL, which stands out and turn down the bids of the minor, the American Hockey League.
Neither minor circuit is meeting here officially but the best guess is that the AHL will stand out and turn down the bids of the minor, the American Hockey League.
The AHL is still without a working agreement with the NHL. This situation may be clarified during the current meeting, before the AHL holds its annual get-together in a couple of weeks.
Without this agreement, the AHL cannot draft from the NHL or the QHL. Nor can the NHL draft from the AHL, a situation the top-ranking minor circuit has long held to be just and proper.
The AHL intra-league draft of NHL clubs is scheduled for Wednesday. It is also a $20,000 deal, but the AHL would be awarded by draft or trades.
The clubs have until 5 p.m. today to name their protected players—18 plus two goalies—who are not subject to the draft.
Coach Toe Blake of the NHL and Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens said Monday his club will stand pat on its current roster and protect all of them.
